He is the only general manager in NHL history to lead two different clubs for over 1,000 games and 500 victories, and on March 1, 2018, against Edmonton, Poile won his 1,320th game, making him the all-time winningest GM in League history.

In 2017-18, Poile's squad engineered the best regular season in franchise history, claiming the Presidents' Trophy and Central Division title for the first time en route to the No. 1-seed and home-ice advantage throughout the playoffs. The Predators recorded 53 wins and 117 points – both franchise records – and featured Vezina Trophy winner Pekka Rinne, a Poile draft pick in 2004, and Norris Trophy nominee P.K. Subban, who Poile acquired in the summer of 2016.

After the Predators became Western Conference Champions and Poile advanced to his first Stanley Cup Final in 2016-17, he was named the 2017 General Manager of the Year, his first such honor after being nominated for award in each of its first three years of existence (2010, 2011 and 2012), while also receiving a sixth-place finish in 2015. Poile is one of the most influential men in the sport, evidenced by his spot on the NHL's Competition Committee all 13 years of existence, appointment to the Hockey Hall of Fame Selection Committee in 2014, and involvement with USA Hockey, highlighted by his service as General Manager of the United States Olympic Team for the 2014 Winter Games in Sochi. On Aug. 9, 2018, Poile's longstanding support and commitment to hockey in the United States was etched in history with his nomination to the U.S. Hockey Hall of Fame as part of the Class of 2018.

While Poile continues to use effective drafting and development of home-grown players as the foundation for the Nashville Predators, his blueprint for success has necessitated the welcoming of high-octane offensive performers to the organization and bold trades in recent seasons. Dating back to the 2013 Trade Deadline, Poile and his staff have been aggressive in acquiring young, talented prospects with high offensive ceilings, and proven NHL stars via trade and free agency to supplement Nashville's drafted talent. This formula helped the Predators to their longest postseason run in franchise history – their first trip to the Stanley Cup Final in franchise history – in 2016-17, shattering nearly every Predators postseason record in the process. Under Poile's guidance, the Predators have reached the Stanley Cup Playoffs in each of the past four seasons and 11 of the past 14 campaigns.

Poile's most impactful moves over the past five-plus seasons have been on the trade front, with his two most recent blockbusters being among the largest one-for-one trades in NHL history. On Jan. 6, 2016, Poile acquired the No. 1 center the team has coveted since Day One of the franchise by getting 23-year-old All-Star Ryan Johansen from the Columbus Blue Jackets, and then on July 28, 2017, he signed Johansen to an eight-year, $64 million contract, the largest contract Poile has ever offered. On June 29, 2016, Poile executed the largest transaction in franchise history by acquiring 2013 Norris Trophy winner Subban and giving Smashville a superstar they've never seen before. Prior to those acquisitions, on April 3, 2013, Poile traded for emerging superstar Filip Forsberg, who has led the team in goals in three of the last four seasons and tied the franchise record for goals in a campaign in 2015-16, from Washington. Forsberg, selected 11th overall in the 2012 Entry Draft, was rated the third-best player by Poile's staff, but slipped due to a run of defensemen being drafted. Other key components acquired via trade include Calle Jarnkrok (2014), who signed a six-year contract in the summer of 2016, and Kyle Turris, who came to Nashville from Ottawa in a three-team trade on Nov. 5, 2017.

Despite the recent influx of star players from the outside, the Predators continue to hold firm to their philosophy of building around home-grown products starting in net with Rinne, and on the blue line with Captain Roman Josi, who set the franchise record for points by a defenseman in a season (14g-47a-61pts) in 2015-16; Ryan Ellis, who set career highs in assists and plus-minus rating in 2017-18; and Mattias Ekholm, who has emerged into one of the most reliable defensemen in the game at both ends of the ice.

In addition to Johansen and Forsberg, the forward corps are anchored by Viktor Arvidsson – who Poile signed to a seven-year, $29.75 million contract on July 22, 2017, after co-leading the Preds in goals (31) and points (61) in 2016-17 – four-time 20-goal scorer Craig Smith (fourth round in 2009), 2017 Stanley Cup Playoff breakout star Colton Sissons (second round in 2012), Austin Watson (first round in 2010), Nick Bonino (free agency in 2017) and Ryan Hartman (acquired via trade in 2018). Of the 29 players used by Nashville in 2017-18, 19 were either drafted by the club, or made their NHL debuts with the Preds.

To supplement his core players who have been drafted and developed, or acquired via trade, Poile has been among the busiest GMs on the free-agent market the past five summers, signing 17 forwards, seven defensemen and a goalie to NHL contracts during the opening weeks of free agency.

The assertive, team-building plan implemented by Poile from the franchise's inception has helped the organization earn the reputation as one of the most stable, well-built teams in the NHL. Crucial to the plan's success is the ability to make the right selections and develop the young prospects. Poile has assembled a bright staff of personnel charged with those responsibilities, including Assistant General Manager/Director of Hockey Operations Brian Poile, Assistant General Manager/Director of Scouting Jeff Kealty, Director of Player Development/Milwaukee Admirals General Manager Scott Nichol, and a team of gifted professional and amateur scouts across North America and Europe.

Poile has long been a proponent of a strong developmental system as a means to develop blossoming young players into productive NHL players. The Predators' primary developmental affiliate, the American Hockey League's Milwaukee Admirals, captured the first Calder Cup Championship in franchise history in 2004 and revisited the Calder Cup Final in 2006. They have advanced to the Calder Cup Playoffs in 14 of the last 16 seasons, winning five division titles in that span. From 2002-03 to 2010-11, the Admirals became the first team in AHL history to post 40-or-more wins and 90-or-more points in eight consecutive seasons each season with a team predominately made up of Predators prospects.

Poile's wisdom and experience is clearly valued throughout the hockey world, as evidenced by his selection to the post of General Manager of the U.S. Olympic Team for the 2014 Sochi Games. He was associate general manager for the 2010 United States

Olympic Team and helped select the team that would become one of the headline stories of the 2010 Games, capturing the hearts of a nation en route to a silver medal. Poile was a member of the U.S. National Team Advisory Group for the third consecutive International Ice Hockey Federation World Championships in 2014, and also served as associate GM for the American entries into the 2009 and 2010 editions of the tournament, and as general manager at the 1998 and 1999 Worlds.

Since its establishment in 2005, Poile has helped guide the NHL Competition Committee, making him one of just two individuals to sit on the committee all 12 seasons of its existence. The steering body that formulates and recommends rule changes for approval by the NHL Board of Governors, the Competition Committee continues to be one of the most influential bodies in the game today having helped usher in innovations featuring on-ice innovations such as the regular-season shootout, hybrid icing and the grandfathering of visors. In March 2014, Poile received yet another prestigious honor by being appointed to the Hockey Hall of Fame Selection Committee and helped mold the Hall of Fame's last five classes.

Poile's third straight General Manager of the Year nomination in 2011-12 came after the team finished with a 48-26-8 record (104 points), the third-best record in the Western Conference, fifth-best in the NHL, and good for home-ice advantage in the Stanley Cup Playoffs. In 2010-11, he was a finalist for the award after Nashville earned the fifth seed in the Western Conference (99 points) and gave up the third-fewest goals in the League (190) despite missing nearly 350 man-games due to injury, and in 2009-10, he constructed a team that was one of 11 to hit the 100-point mark despite having a payroll ranked 28th in the League, earning a spot as a finalist for the inaugural General Manager of the Year Award.

In 2006-07, Poile was recognized by The Sporting News as its "Executive of the Year," an honor he had received twice previously (1982-83 and 1983-84), which is determined through a vote of his peers, after the Predators finished the season with the second-most points in the Western Conference and tied for the third-most points in the entire League. Locally, Business TN magazine honored him as the magazine's "CEO of the Year" for 2006 based on his consistent and successful track record as the team's architect.

In 2001, Poile was a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award in recognition of contributions to hockey in the United States. Poile has devoted his professional career to hockey and the NHL, particularly in non-traditional markets. His late father, Bud Poile, also a recipient of the Lester Patrick Award (1989) and a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame (1990), served as general manager of two expansion franchises – first in Philadelphia (1967) and then in Vancouver (1970). David Poile began his professional career as an administrative assistant with the Atlanta Flames expansion franchise in 1972 and spent 10 years with the organization before being named general manager of the Washington Capitals in 1982. The 2018-19 campaign will mark his 46th in NHL.

For the 1982-83 season, Poile took the reins of a Washington team that had never made the Stanley Cup Playoffs. In his 15 years there, the Capitals advanced to the postseason 14 times. The 1997-98 Capitals, largely comprised of players Poile acquired, advanced to the Stanley Cup Final. During his 15-year tenure, the Caps compiled a record of 594-454-132 (.559), ranking among the NHL's top-five teams during that span.

Poile was instrumental in the League's adoption of the instant replay rule in 1991. He was awarded Inside Hockey's Man of the Year award for his leadership on the issue.

A graduate of Northeastern University in Boston, Poile was hockey team captain, leading scorer and most valuable player for two years, earning a place in the University's Hall of Fame. In June 2014, he received an honorary doctorate degree from American Sentinel University.

Poile also serves as an alternate governor for the team and in December 2007, he added President of Hockey Operations to his title. For the past seven seasons, Poile has donated to Operation Homefront (which provides emergency assistance and morale programs to our U.S. troops), USA Hockey and the Peterson for Parkinson's Foundation for every Predators victory.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, reside in Nashville. The Poiles have two children – daughter Lauren and son Brian – and three grandchildren – Ellie, Charlotte and Wyatt.

SEAN HENRY PRESIDENT/CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

In 2017-18, his eighth season in Smashville, Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena President, Chief Executive Officer and Alternate Governor Sean Henry proudly watched the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena complete yet another historic season. Led by the passion and dedication of the greatest staff in all of sports, the franchise sold out their 109th consecutive game and the Preds were named the 2018 Central Division, regular-season Western Conference and Presidents' Trophy winners.

Henry is most proud of and grateful for all of Smashville, the Loyal Legion and 7th Man for creating such an amazingly unique bond with the Preds. Without their support, we would not have been recognized as 2017 Arena of the Year by Pollstar magazine, IEBA, CMA and ACM. Our fan support solidified our spot as a 2017 Top Workplace with The Tennessean and as the No. 1 professional sports franchise by ESPN, and without their tireless dedication to this franchise and passion for all we aim to achieve, we would not be the organization we are today. Henry is proud to serve these incredible fans alongside our core leadership group to continue reaching the organization's ONE GOAL.

Throughout the Nashville Predators' 20 years in Smashville, the economic impact upon the city and throughout the entire region only continues to grow year after year. The annual impact to the city of over $600 million is the tangible benefit of the unique public-private partnership the Nashville Predators enjoy with Metro Nashville, and the memories built within and around Bridgestone are the intangible and possibly even more valuable impact that the growing success has created. The reach, power and passion of the amazing fan base continue to have Smashville's ripple affect extended in so many new ways. From the Nashville Predators Foundation to Ford Ice Center in Antioch, to the new, under-construction, Preds Ice Center in Bellevue, to the growing media ratings; the borders of Smashville's growth positively impacts families and businesses all across the region.

The summer of 2018 was another off-season full of renovations for one of the country's busiest venues, as Bridgestone Arena's talented and creative operations team led the arena through another wave of multi-million-dollar upgrades. In his eight years with the Predators and Bridgestone Arena, Henry has overseen more than $70 million in upgrades, improvements and renovations – all a part of the organization's plan to make the Bridgestone Arena experience for every guest, player, performer, musician, fan and employee that walks through its doors the best it possibly can be.

For Henry, on par with every seat filled, every renovation finished and every ticket sold, is the organization's commitment to the community through the Nashville Predators Foundation and the Nashville Predators Youth Hockey programs. The Foundation's grants and programs funded more than $2 million in programs and donations to over 600 local organization in the 2017-18 season and the organization's Hearts of Gold program infused the area with more than 8,000 community service hours donated by employees, players and staff, all of which create a special workplace environment while also changing lives throughout Middle Tennessee. Henry played a vital role in the organization's decision to commit $500,000 over the course of five years to AMEND, an innovative YWCA primary prevention initiative dedicated to ending violence against women and girls in our community.

Henry was born a Nashvillian, although it took him 42 years to get here. Before leading his favorite staff in Smashville, he served for 11 years as the Executive Vice President and COO of the Tampa Bay Lightning, two years as the Vice President of Sales and Marketing with Unity Motion and 14 years with Volume Services Inc., where he worked with the Detroit Pistons, St. Louis Rams and the Washington Redskins.

Though much of his time is spent moving the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena towards its ONE GOAL alongside tireless and passionate Smashville employees, Henry is grateful for each day he has the opportunity to serve on the boards of the Nashville Predators Foundation, YWCA of Nashville and Middle Tennessee, Nashville Downtown Partnership, Nashville Sports Council, Nashville Chamber of Commerce, the Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt, The Sports Fund and stay involved (along with his wife) in his children's schools, sports teams and clubs.

Despite the numerous titles and accolades Henry has achieved in his professional career, his reigning Father of the Year Award is one that has no equal and one that would not be possible without the support of his wife of 27 years Tracey Manning (a.k.a. the Suburban Diva) or his four children – Steven, Matthew, Amy and Jessica. How Henry managed to win Father of the Year despite his constant attempts to recreate National Lampoon's Vacation and repeated stories (all normally captured in the Diva's writings), is perhaps his greatest achievement.

He will continue to carry out his responsibilities as the team's Director of Hockey Operations, which include managing the club's roster, player payroll, budget, salary cap, the team's statistical and competitive analysis departments, the training, medical and equipment staffs, NHL CR administration, NHL CBA compliance, and the department's day-to-day business operations.

During his tenure, Poile has been a part of every playoff series win in team history including Anaheim (2011), Detroit (2012), Anaheim (2016), Chicago (2017), St. Louis (2017), Anaheim (2017) and Colorado (2018). Also, in his time with the Predators management team, David Poile has been nominated for General Manager of the Year three times and won the award in 2017.

JEFF KEALTY ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER, DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING

Jeff Kealty enters his first season as the Assistant General Manager and Director of Scouting, overseeing Nashville's professional and amateur scouting efforts, and 18th campaign with the organization in 2018-19. Before being promoted to Director of Player Personnel on Dec. 1, 2017, Kealty spent 11 seasons as Nashville's Chief Amateur Scout; his scouting played an integral role in the acquisitions of Filip Forsberg, Ryan Johansen, Calle Jarnkrok and Ryan Hartman. With his experience in amateur scouting all over the world and development of prospects within the Predators system, 13 players who were drafted by the Predators during his tenure are on the team's current roster, including Roman Josi, Ryan Ellis, Mattias Ekholm, Viktor Arvidsson, Kevin Fiala, Colton Sissons, Craig Smith, Austin Watson and Juuse Saros. Players drafted under Kealty's watch combined for 339 points (136g-203a) during the 2017-18 regular season, helping Nashville win the Presidents' Trophy for the first time.

The Boston native has overseen Nashville's past 11 drafts, helping to bolster the club's depth across the board, selecting 43 forwards, 27 defensemen and 11 goalies since his first year running Nashville's draft table in 2008.

Nashville continued to reap the benefits of Kealty and his staff's astute drafting in 2016-17. Two more Preds draftees solidified spots on the NHL roster – Kevin Fiala and Juuse Saros – while other highly touted prospects such as 2014 second-round pick Vladislav Kamenev and 2015 fourth-round pick Alexandre Carrier made their debuts in 2016-17. Filip Forsberg – who has led the team in points each of the past four seasons and tied the franchise record for goals in a campaign in 2015-16 – was ranked third by Nashville's scouting staff for the 2012 Entry Draft, an integral component in his acquisition from Washington. Additionally, the blockbuster trade for All-Star center Ryan Johansen was made possible by the scouting staff's knack for selecting world class defensemen.

Other homegrown selections chosen early in the Kealty era such as Roman Josi, Mattias Ekholm, Ryan Ellis, Craig Smith and Viktor Arvidsson have developed into core pieces of the Predators. Further down the organizational depth chart, Nashville is bullish on the future of 2016 first rounder Dante Fabbro, 2015 second rounder Yakov Trenin amongst others in a deep crop of talent.

A former first-round pick (22nd overall) of the Quebec Nordiques in 1994, Kealty was signed by Nashville as a free agent in 1998 following a four-year college career at Boston University. The former defenseman played one pro season for the Milwaukee Admirals (International Hockey League) before his playing career was cut short due to injury.

Kealty, his wife Lynn, daughter Lydia and son James (twins), and daughter Hannah reside in Norfolk, Massachusetts.

The Lloydminster, Sask., native advanced to the Stanley Cup Playoffs 13 times in his 14 seasons, amassing 49 points (13g-36a) in 106 postseason contests and helping Ottawa reach the 2007 Stanley Cup Final.

Internationally, Redden helped Canada claim the 2004 World Cup of Hockey, strike gold at the 1995 and 1996 World Junior Championships and earn a silver medal at the 2005 World Championship while being named the tournament's best defenseman. He also played in the 2006 Torino Olympics and both the 1999 and 2001 World Championships. Redden enjoyed a decorated junior career with the Brandon Wheat Kings from 1993-96, helping the Wheat Kings to the 1996 WHL title, being named to the 1996 Memorial Cup All-Tournament Team. In 1994, he won the Jim Piggott Trophy as WHL Rookie of the Year.

Redden and his wife, Danica, have three daughters: Leni, Harper and Ryann.

TOM NOLAN CHIEF AMATEUR SCOUT

Tom Nolan enters his first full season as the Predators' Chief Amateur Scout in 2018-19. Nolan, who formerly served as one of the team's North American scouts for 10 seasons beginning in 2008, was promoted to Chief Amateur Scout on June 21, 2018. In his role, Nolan will help Assistant General Manager/Director of Scouting Jeff Kealty oversee the organization's amateur scouting efforts all over the globe.

Nolan scouted Associate Captain Ryan Ellis, who set career highs in assists and plus-minus in 2017-18, as well as last season's NHL All-Rookie Team goaltender Juuse Saros. Standouts Kevin Fiala, Viktor Arvidsson and Colton Sissons were all drafted by the Predators under Nolan's watch, and the Springfield, Massachusetts native also scouted 2017 first-rounder Eeli Tolvanen.

COACHING STAFF

PETER LAVIOLETTE HEAD COACH

After leading the Nashville Predators to the Presidents' Trophy last season and the Stanley Cup Final in 2016-17, Head Coach Peter Laviolette enters the 2018-19 campaign with the ultimate goal of capturing the franchise's first Stanley Cup. A 2006 Stanley Cup Champion as head coach of the Carolina Hurricanes, Laviolette begins his fifth season with the Predators on the heels of the franchise's best-ever regular season in 2017-18. Known for his aggressive, up-tempo philosophy, he was named the second head coach in Nashville Predators history on May 6, 2014.

In his fourth season at the helm of the Predators, his squad set franchise records for wins and points in a season, going 53-18-11 with 117 points. He became the second American-born head coach in NHL history to win the Presidents' Trophy and led the Predators to Second Round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs for the third straight season, one of just three teams to do since 2015-16. Individually, Laviolette advanced to the Second Round for the seventh time in the last nine seasons and served as the Central Division's head coach at the NHL's All-Star Weekend in Tampa for the third time in his career by virtue of the Predators owning the best record at the halfway mark of the regular season.

Laviolette's Predators finished 2016-17 with a 41-29-12 record and ranked 16th in NHL's regular-season standings, qualifying for the postseason as the second Wild Card team in the Western Conference. Nashville ultimately became the third club seeded lowest in its conference to advance to the Stanley Cup Final since the League adopted the conference-based playoff format in 1994. In the process, Laviolette reached the Conference Finals for the third time as an NHL head coach (also 2006 with Carolina and 2010 with Philadelphia), becoming just the third head coach to do so with three different teams.

The 2016-17 regular season also saw a pair of milestones for Laviolette. With a 4-2 victory over Minnesota on Jan. 22, 2017, Laviolette became the 25th coach in NHL history to record his 500th win. Then, just two months later, Laviolette coached his 1,000th career game, making him one of 28 to accomplish the feat in League history. Of the 28 individuals who have coached at least 1,000 NHL games, Laviolette's .587 win percentage ranks seventh among the field. He enters the 2018-19 season with 571 career wins, second in all-time victories for a U.S.-born coach, trailing only John Tortorella.

In season No. 1 in the Music City in 2014-15, Laviolette coached the Preds to a 47-25-10 record (104 points) – nine more wins and 16 more points than the team finished with a season earlier – to return to the Stanley Cup Playoffs. The 2014-15 season with highlighted by a scorching start which saw the Preds reach 10, 20, 30 and 40 wins quicker than any other point in team history, and top the Western Conference standings in each of the season's five full months (November-March). At 2015 All-Star Weekend in Columbus, Laviolette and his staff manned the Team Toews bench after the Predators held the League's highest point percentage at the season's midpoint (.725, 27-9-4 record). His efforts also earned him a spot as one of three finalists for the 2015 Jack Adams Award, the second time in his career he was named a finalist.

In 2015-16, he picked up where he left off in season No. 1 in Smashville, leading the team to its third-ever playoff series victory in dramatic fashion, staving off elimination in Game Six of their Western Conference Round One series vs. Anaheim, then winning the franchise's first Game Seven, on the road no less, to advance. Nashville would reach new heights in the Second Round vs. San Jose, winning the longest game in franchise history in Game Four to even the series, and again forcing a Game Seven with another overtime win in Game Six, making it the longest postseason run in franchise history at the time.

Upon coming to Nashville, Laviolette immediately instilled the intensity and urgency necessary to help veteran players thrive and young players reach their potential. Players like Roman Josi and Filip Forsberg continued their trajectories toward stardom with record-breaking performances in 2015-16, while others like Ryan Johansen, Mattias Ekholm and Ryan Ellis have continued their development into elite NHLers.

Prior to joining the Predators, Laviolette compiled a career coaching record of 389-282-(25)-63 (866 points) in parts of 12 seasons with the New York Islanders (2001-03), Carolina Hurricanes (2003-09) and Philadelphia Flyers (2009-14). Like the Preds in 2014-15, each of his previous three teams improved exponentially in the first full season after he took the helm: the Islanders finished with 96 points and the eighth-best record in the League in 2001-02 after finishing 30th with 52 points the season prior; the Hurricanes went from 23rd in the NHL with 76 points to fourth with 112 points in 2005-06; and the Flyers improved from 88 points and 18th in the NHL to 106 points and fourth in 2010-11. Laviolette won 52 games in his first full season with Carolina in 2005-06 – earning him runner-up Jack Adams Award honors in the closest vote in award history – in addition to recording back-to-back 47-win seasons with Philadelphia in 2010-11 and 2011-12, and hitting the 40-win mark on three other occasions (2001-02, 2006-07 and 2007-08).

Including his Stanley Cup win in 2006 with Carolina, Laviolette has made 10 postseason appearances – two with the Islanders in 2002 and 2003 to end a seven-year postseason absence for the franchise; three with the Flyers – all of which saw the team advance beyond the opening round, including the 2009-10 campaign, when he took over midseason and led the team to Game Six of the Stanley Cup Final; then in 2015, 2016, 2017 and 2018 with the Predators.

Laviolette's offensive-minded philosophy is evidenced by his teams finishing in the Top 10 in goals seven times in 12 full NHL seasons, with three of those being top-three results. When coaching a team for a full season, Laviolette's squad has never finished lower than 14th in goals for. That doesn't include his two midseason takeovers where the Hurricanes improved their goals average from 1.87 to 2.23 when he moved behind the bench in 2003-04, and when the Flyers finished eighth in offensive output in 2009-10.

His work with Nashville's young core continues a long track record of developing talent at the NHL level – in Philadelphia, Claude Giroux played his first full season under Laviolette in 2009-10, and has become one of the NHL's elite offensive producers, posting 93 points and finishing fourth in Hart Trophy voting in 2011-12; James Van Riemsdyk played his first NHL games under Laviolette in 2009-10, then hit the 21-goal mark as a 21-year-old in his sophomore season a year later; Jakub Voracek improved his point-per-game average from .58 with Columbus to .75 with Laviolette's Flyers teams after a trade in the summer of 2011; Wayne Simmonds doubled his goal total from 14 in 2010-11 with Los Angeles to 28 in his first season with Philadelphia in 2011-12; and Matt Read posted 24 goals as a rookie in the same season. Predators alumnus Scott Hartnell also hit career highs in goals (37) and points (67) in 2011-12 with the Flyers, being named to his only All-Star Game.

In Carolina, Eric Staal played his first four-plus seasons under Laviolette, notching a career-high 45 goals and 100 points to finish fourth in Hart Trophy voting during the Cup-winning campaign; Justin Williams, a three-time Stanley Cup winner and the 2014 Conn Smythe Trophy recipient as playoff MVP, posted his top-two point totals and only two 30-goal seasons under Laviolette in 2005-06 and 2006-07. Finally with the Islanders in 2001-02, a 24-year-old Mark Parrish hit the 30-goal mark for the only time in his career.

One of just nine men employed as an NHL head coach at the start of the 2018-19 campaign to have won a Stanley Cup, Laviolette has served as head coach for the United States at three World Championships: in 2004 when the nation earned its first medal in eight years, a bronze, in Prague, Czech Republic; the following spring at the 2005 Championship in Innsbruck and Vienna, Austria; and most recently in 2014 in Minsk, Belarus. He has also represented his country in four Olympic Games, first as a player in the 1988 Calgary Games and the 1994 Lillehammer Games, then as a head coach at the 2006 Torino Games, and as an assistant at the 2014 Sochi Games.

A native of Franklin, Massachusetts, Laviolette began his coaching career with the ECHL's Wheeling Nailers in 1997-98, coaching them to a 37-24-9 record and a spot in the Northern Conference Final. He was hired as head coach of the American Hockey League's Providence Bruins following his rookie season in West Virginia, and proceeded to lead the Bruins to an AHL-best 56-16-4-4 record during the 1998-99 season and the 1999 Calder Cup title. Given Providence's 19-49-7-5 record and last-place finish in the AHL the season prior to Laviolette's takeover, his efforts earned him the 1999 Louis A.R. Pieri Memorial Award as AHL Coach of the Year. He spent one more season in Providence, with the team advancing to the 2000 Eastern Conference Final, before being promoted to an assistant coach under Pat Burns and later Mike Keenan with the parent Boston Bruins, which he assumed for a single campaign (2000-01) until his hiring as 10th coach in New York Islanders history on May 23, 2001.

The former defenseman began his coaching career after 11 seasons playing professionally in the National, International and American Hockey Leagues, and internationally for the U.S. National Team, from 1986-97. He amassed 268 points (78g-190a) in 594 minor-league games in the IHL (Indianapolis, Colorado, Denver, Flint and San Diego) and AHL (Binghamton and Providence) from 1986-97, while appearing in 12 games for the New York Rangers in 1988-89. Laviolette also spent the majority of the 1987-88 and 1993-94 seasons with Team USA preparing for the Olympics, recording a pair of assists in six games at the 1988 Games, then wearing the "C" and scoring one goal in eight games at the 1994 Games.

The Westfield State (Mass.) University graduate finished his collegiate career ranked 14th on the school's all-time points list (43g-44a-87pts) and was named its alumnus of the year in 1988 and inducted into its sports hall of fame in 2002. A three-year captain, Laviolette led the Owls in scoring and was an MASCAC all-conference defenseman his senior season.

COACHING STAFF

KEVIN MCCARTHY ASSOCIATE COACH

Kevin McCarthy enters his fifth season with the Nashville Predators organization and second season as Associate Coach in 2018-19 and brings nearly 40 years of professional hockey playing, coaching and front-office experience to his position. McCarthy's responsibilities include running the team's defensemen and heading up the power play.

McCarthy has helped the Predators reach the Stanley Cup Playoffs in each of his first four seasons with the club, most recently helping oversee the most successful regular season in franchise history – being named the 2018 Central Division, regular-season Western Conference & Presidents' Trophy winners. Last season, McCarthy was an integral part of the team's longest postseason run in franchise history – to Game Six of the Stanley Cup Final – in 2016-17. During the 2015-16 season, several of McCarthy's forward corps saw career years, highlighted by superstar Filip Forsberg tying the franchise record for goals in a season alongside Viktor Arvidsson. In his first season in Nashville in 2014-15, McCarthy helped the franchise return to the playoffs for the first time in three seasons, making a nine-win and 16-point improvement.

Prior to joining the Predators, McCarthy served as an assistant coach on Peter Laviolette's staff in Philadelphia for five seasons from 2009-14. The duo joined the Flyers on Dec. 4, 2009 and proceeded to lead them to Game Six of the 2010 Stanley Cup Final, then see the team make an 18-point improvement during their first full season in 2010-11. Philadelphia won 47 games and advanced past the opening round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs in both 2010-11 and 2011-12, with McCarthy helping the likes of Claude Giroux, James Van Riemsdyk, Jakub Voracek, Wayne Simmonds and former Predator Scott Hartnell blossom into NHL stars or hit career years during his time working with them.

The bulk of McCarthy's work behind the bench came with the Hartford Whalers/Carolina Hurricanes organization for 16 seasons from 1992-2009, including its Stanley Cup-winning campaign in 2005-06 and another Stanley Cup Final appearance in 2001-02.

After three seasons as an assistant for the Whalers (1992-95), he served as head coach for the franchise's AHL affiliates in Springfield (1995-97) and New Haven (1997-99), compiling a 156-123-36 record. He rejoined the parent team for the 1999-2000 season and spent the next nine years as a Hurricanes assistant. In addition to team success, he helped Eric Staal go from an 18-year-old rookie to a 100-point producer and veterans like 2014 Conn Smythe Trophy winner Justin Williams experience a career year.

McCarthy's coaching career started as a player-assistant coach for the AHL's Hershey Bears (1987-88), before a full-time move behind the bench as an assistant in 1988-89 and head coach in 1989-90. He also has front-office experience as the Flyers Director of Player Development from 1990-92.

The former defenseman spent 10 seasons in the NHL with the Flyers, Vancouver Canucks and Pittsburgh Penguins from 1977-87, posting 258 points (67g-191a) in 527 career games. During his time with Vancouver, he served as the Canucks' team captain for three seasons (1979-82) and was named a starter in the 1981 NHL All-Star Game. A native of Winnipeg, Man., McCarthy played his junior hockey for his hometown Clubs and Monarchs of the Western Canada Hockey League and was a member of Canada's 1975 World Junior Championship entry that earned a silver medal.

McCarthy and his wife, Rhonda, reside in Nashville. They have three daughters: Melissa, Meaghan and Mallory, and three grandchildren: Cannon, Pryce and Chase.

DAN MUSE ASSISTANT COACH

Dan Muse enters his second season with the Predators organization in 2018-19. Prior to joining the Preds, Muse won the Clark Cup as head coach of the Chicago Steel of the United States Hockey League, a position he held for two seasons. Before his arrival in Chicago, Muse served as an assistant coach at Yale University from 2009 to 2013 before being promoted to the title of associate head coach at Yale from 2013 to 2015. In addition, Muse served as video coordinator for the United States National Junior Team in 2013 and 2014, winning a Gold Medal at the 2013 World Junior Championship. He has also been behind the bench as an assistant coach at Sacred Heart University, Williams College and Milton Academy.

Muse saw plenty of success as an assistant coach and associate head coach at Yale, including winning an NCAA National Championship with the Bulldogs in 2013. In 2014-15, Yale led the nation in team defense (1.64 goals-against average) and finished the season with the NCAA's top-rated penalty kill (90.1 percent). During his time with the Bulldogs, Muse helped guide the team to Ivy League regular-season titles in 2010, 2011, 2013 and 2015, as well as a pair of ECAC tournament titles and NCAA Tournament appearances in those four seasons.

After missing the playoffs in his first season with the Steel, Muse came back to coach a team that finished with a 38-17-5 record during the 2016-17 regular season before winning three, best-of-five series to capture the 2017 Clark Cup. Muse's club finished with the USHL's top-ranked penalty kill in 2016-17 with a 90.3 percent success rate.

COACHING STAFF

BEN VANDERKLOK GOALTENDING COACH

Ben Vanderklok enters his fifth season as the Nashville Predators Goaltending Coach in 2018-19. In his position, Vanderklok works with all goaltenders in the Nashville system, including those playing in Milwaukee (AHL), amateur leagues and Europe.

During his four seasons in the position, Vanderklok has helped the team's goaltenders standout among the NHL's best. Under Vanderklok's watch, Pekka Rinne won the 2018 Vezina Trophy as the League's top goaltender, the first time a Preds player had won an individual, performance-based award. Rinne posted one of the best statistical seasons of his career in 2017-18, finishing first in save percentage (.927), even-strength save percentage (.938) and goals-against average (2.31) among goalies with at least 50 games played. He was third in the NHL in wins with 42 and tied for first in shutouts with eight, a career high. Rinne's other accomplishments during the 2017-18 season included winning his 300th career NHL game, earning his 50th career shutout and setting the record for most shutouts by a Finnish-born goaltender (45) on Nov. 24, 2018. Vanderklok also helped Juuse Saros be named to the NHL's All-Rookie Team after he recorded a .925 save percentage – the third-highest in a single-season in team history – and an 11-5-7 record as a 23-year-old in 2017-18.

During the 2016-17 season, Rinne was the NHL's First Star of the Month in November, making him the first Predators player in team history to accomplish the feat. Later that season, Rinne backstopped Nashville to the Stanley Cup Final for the first time in franchise history, reaching Game 6 against the Pittsburgh Penguins. Rinne also was a representative at the NHL All-Star Weekends in 2015, 2016 and 2018, stopping every shot he faced in one period of action in the latter event. In 2014-15, his first season working full-time with Vanderklok, Rinne tied for second among all NHL goaltenders in wins (41), was third in goals-against average (2.18) and tied for seventh in save percentage (.923) while playing the sixth-most minutes of any goaltender (3,850:47), which earned Rinne one of his four career Vezina nominations (2011, 2012, 2015, 2018). As a result of being a part of the coaching staff of the team with the best point percentage at the midpoint of the 2014-15 season, Vanderklok also represented the Predators at the 2015 All-Star Game.

Prior to his current role, Vanderklok served as the organization's assistant goaltending coach for five seasons from 2009-14, where he worked with nearly all the goalies within the organization. His work has been integral in Saros' transition to North America. In 2015-16, Saros was named to the AHL All-Rookie Team after ranking fourth among all league netminders in goals-against average (2.24), tying for fourth in wins (29), tying for sixth in shutouts (4) and tying for eighth in save percentage (.920). In 2013-14, Scott Darling came to the organization with one AHL game to his credit, and ended the season ranked among the league leaders in save percentage (.933), goals-against average (2.00) and shutouts (6) for the Admirals, earning him a full-time NHL position with the Chicago Blackhawks.

The Welland, Ontario native worked as goalie coach of the Ontario Hockey League's Niagara IceDogs from 2008-14, helping them reach the playoffs six consecutive seasons and reach the 2012 OHL Final. During his first four seasons with the IceDogs, Vanderklok helped Mark Visentin become a first-round pick of the Arizona Coyotes (27th overall), earn a pair of medals with Team Canada at the World Junior Championship, become 2011 OHL Goaltender of the Year, and earn the 2012 Dave Pinkney Trophy as the goalie with the lowest goals-against average. Visentin also broke a 62-season OHL record for most shutouts in a season in 2011-12 (10).

Vanderklok started his coaching career with the Port Colborne Pirates of the Golden Horseshoe Junior Hockey League (Junior B) from 2003-06 before instructing and training Brock University's (Ontario) goalies from 2007-09. Since 2003, he has run Ben Vanderklok Goaltending, which conducts camps and clinics in the St. Catharines, Ont., region.

A dual Canadian-Dutch citizen, Vanderklok retired from play following four seasons (2000-04) and two league titles in 2002 and 2003 with the Amsterdam Tigers of the Netherlands Elite League. He played a pair of seasons with the OHL's Barrie Colts from 1998-2000.

The 36-year-old Vanderklok, his wife, Marlene, and daughter, Ava, reside in Brentwood.

DAVID GOOD STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COACH

David Good enters his 15th season as the strength and conditioning coach of the Nashville Predators in 2018-19. He joined the Predators in July of 2004 and is responsible for preparing and supervising workout programs for all players in the Predators organization. Good also helps run the club's prospect development program and the off-ice aspects of the Predators Hockey School.

Good was instrumental in developing a program for Steve Sullivan that allowed the Predators forward to return to the ice on January 12, 2009 after almost a two-year absence that included missing 142 straight regular-season games and 11 playoff games due to a back injury. In June of 2009, Sullivan won the NHL's Bill Masterton Memorial Trophy given "to the player that best exemplifies the qualities of perseverance, sportsmanship and dedication to hockey." During the summer of 2010, he designed and outfitted the new weight room at Bridgestone Arena with triple the amount of space to facilitate optimal in-season training.

Prior to joining the Predators, Good served as the Director of Speed-Strength and Conditioning for West Coast Sports Performance and Center for Athlete Medicine in Manhattan Beach, Calif., and also served as a consultant for the Long Beach Ice Dogs (ECHL). The Colorado native served as the Assistant Speed-Strength and Conditioning Coach for the Los Angeles Kings from 1999-2003 and held the same title from 1997-99 with the Ice Dogs (IHL). He also served as Strength and Conditioning Coordinator at Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles from 1998-99.

Before moving to California, Good served as the Student Assistant Strength and Conditioning coach at the University of Colorado for two years. He received his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from the University of Colorado at Boulder along with certifications in strength and conditioning, sports conditioning, Olympic weightlifting and kettlebell training.

LAWRENCE FELONEY ASSISTANT COACH - VIDEO

Lawrence Feloney enters the 2018-19 season as his ninth with the Nashville Predators organization and first with the title of Assistant Coach – Video, after five seasons as video coach. He previously served as video coordinator from 2010-13. He is responsible for video analysis of all pre-scout and Predators game film, manages the organization's video systems and the production of instructional videos for players and prospects throughout the organization. He also provides video support for Nashville's development camp, the NHL trade deadline and NHL Entry Draft.

In 2014, Feloney received the opportunity to represent his country for the first time, serving as video coach for the U.S. Men's National Team at the IIHF World Championship in Minsk, Belarus. He handled all aspects of the team's video preparation, scouting and review for the tournament, working alongside Team USA and Predators Head Coach Peter Laviolette, and Team USA and former Predators Assistant Coach Phil Housley.

Prior to joining the Predators, Feloney spent four seasons as the video coordinator for the New Jersey Devils top developmental affiliate, the American Hockey League's Lowell Devils from 2006-10.

The Natick, Massachusetts, native started his work in video while serving as team manager and video coordinator for the University of Massachusetts-Amherst men's hockey team from 2003-05. Feloney graduated from UMass-Amherst with a bachelor's degree in Sports Management in 2005.

Pete Rogers enters his 21st season as Head Equipment Manager of the Nashville Predators in 2018-19. He is responsible for the everyday equipment needs of all the players as well as coordinating the transfer of equipment to and from road games. Rogers works with the NHL to ensure compliance with programs concerning equipment tracking, jersey authentication and on-ice exposure.

Rogers served as the Equipment Manager for the U.S. Men's National Team in his second Olympic Games at the 2014 Winter Olympics in Sochi after having first done so in Torino in 2006. Willy Daunic (Twitter: @WillyD1025) enters his fourth season as the Predators television play-by-play broadcaster for game broadcasts on FOX Sports Tennessee, after spending two seasons in the radio play-by-play role. Prior to moving upstairs to the play-by-play role, Daunic had been the radio host of the team's pregame, intermission, and postgame coverage for 13 seasons. He began in 1998-99, the first year the Predators took to the ice.

In addition to his work with the Predators, Daunic has been hosting an afternoon sports talk show in Nashville since 1993 and joined the Predators' flagship station, 102.5 The Game when it became an all-sports station in 2011.

Daunic has performed a wide variety of play-by-play and color duties on both radio and television in Nashville, including Vanderbilt University (football, baseball and basketball), Belmont University basketball, Nashville Sounds, TSSAA (Tennessee High School) State Championship games (football, baseball and basketball) and more.

A 1993 graduate of Vanderbilt University, Daunic lettered in two sports for the Commodores. Attending on a basketball scholarship, he played on the Commodores' 1990 NIT Championship team, as well as a team that reached the 1991 NCAA Tourney during his three seasons. Daunic also played four years of baseball at VU, and was drafted by the Toronto Blue Jays in the 25th Round of the 1993 MLB Draft, spending two seasons in their minor league system.

CHRIS MASON TV COLOR ANALYST

Chris Mason enters his fourth season with the Nashville Predators and second season as the color analyst for FOX Sports Tennessee. Prior to his role in television, Mason, who played 135 games for the Nashville Predators over the course of seven seasons with the club, worked as a color analyst for the Nashville Predators Radio Network starting in 2015-16. Mason also currently serves as the President of the Nashville Predators Alumni Association.

Mason first joined the Predators on Oct. 5, 1998 when he was acquired via trade from the Anaheim Ducks. He went on to spend seven of the next eight seasons with the organization, splitting time between the Preds and the Milwaukee Admirals, the team's IHL/AHL affiliate. After four seasons away from the Preds, Mason returned to Nashville as a free agent on July 1, 2012 and played 11 games for the team during the 2012-13 season. Throughout his career wearing Predators Gold, the Red Deer, Alta., native recorded 58 wins, a 2.61 goals-against average and a .913 save percentage. On April 15, 2006, he became the ninth goalie in NHL history to score a goal.

Mason returned to Music City following two seasons playing in Europe – one with the Italia A League's Ritten-Renon and one with the German League's Augsburg Panthers.

He resides in Brentwood with his wife, Courtney, two daughters – Avery and Quinn – and son, Fraser.

HAL GILL RADIO COLOR ANALYST

Hal Gill enters his second season on the Nashville Predators broadcast team as the radio color analyst. Since retiring from the NHL, Gill coached three seasons of high school boys hockey and girls lacrosse. In 2015-16, Gill was the Manager of Player Development for the Florida Panthers.

A veteran of 1,108 NHL contests over 16 seasons and a 2009 Stanley Cup Champion with the Pittsburgh Penguins, Gill made his Predators debut on Feb. 12, 2012, where he played two seasons before his final NHL campaign with the Philadelphia Flyers in 2013-14. In 2000, Gill helped the United States earn a bronze medal at the 2004 World Championships. Before the NHL, he spent a single season with the Providence Bruins in 1997-98 at the end of his four-year tenure with Providence College, where he was the recipient of the 1997 Ron Wilson Award as the Friars' top defensive player after captaining the team.

PETE WEBER RADIO PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

The "Voice of the Predators" Pete Weber (Twitter: @petewebersports) begins his 21st season as part of the Nashville Predators broadcast crew and his fourth working as the team's primary radio play-by-play announcer. In the last 20 seasons, Weber has missed just two games and has called 1634 games for the club (1,522 regular season, 112 playoff).

His insights are called upon by local sport talk radio and television, and his writing is regularly featured on the team's website. In January 2017, Weber won his fifth Tennessee Sportscaster of the Year award from the newly-rebranded NSMA (National Sports Media Association), as voted by the National Association of Sportscasters and Sportswriters.

Pete has served the last 12 seasons as an "insider" on Sirius/XM's NHL Network Radio and served as co-host of Slapshot Radio through 2017.

In addition to his roles with the team, Weber served as co-host of SportsNight from 2003 through 2005, filled in as host on ESPN Radio, called two Music City Bowl games and helped out on Nashville Sounds baseball broadcasts. He also produced and hosted two podcasts: "This Week in the Minor (baseball) Leagues" and the syndicated "Southern Pro Football."

Weber's hockey experience includes three seasons (1978-81) as analyst on the Los Angeles Kings radio and telecasts, two seasons (1995-97) of radio play-by-play for the Buffalo Sabres and coverage of the U.S. hockey team at the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, along with duties as host for Buffalo's cable and radio coverage. At the college level, he called games for his alma mater (University of Notre Dame) from 1974 to 1976, and the University at Buffalo from 1976 through 1978.

Outside of hockey, Weber spent 15 seasons in Triple AAA baseball with Albuquerque, Rochester and Buffalo, where he was inducted into the Buffalo Baseball Hall of Fame in 1999. He served one season as TV play-by-play for the NBA's Seattle SuperSonics and was part of the broadcast team for each of the Buffalo Bills' four Super Bowl appearances. On September 28, 2017, he was inducted into the Buffalo Broadcasters Association Hall of Fame.

A native of Galesburg, Illinois, Pete holds two degrees from the University of Notre Dame. He and his wife Claudia, reside in Nashville.

BRENT PETERSON BROADCAST ANALYST

A Nashville Predator since Day One, Brent Peterson enters his fifth season as a member of the Preds' radio broadcast team. After spending his first 13 seasons with the franchise as a member of the team's coaching staff, Peterson spent 2011-14 as Hockey Operations Advisor, working closely with General Manager David Poile and the coaching staff in all matters involving the team, in addition to being active in the community and in sponsorship and business operations.

A tireless worker in the community, Peterson established the Peterson Foundation for Parkinson's (PFP) in 2007 to raise awareness of the devastating effects of Parkinson's disease. Since 2011, PFP has joined forces with the Nashville Predators to hold Petey's Preds Party – a fun night of live entertainment, dinner and an extensive silent auction – and the Nashville Predators/Brent Peterson Celebrity Golf Classic at Vanderbilt Legends Club. In its first six years of existence, the combination Party and Golf Classic have raised more than $500,000 which was split between Parkinson's research and the Predators Foundation. Donations to PFP fund critical research to aid in the fight against the disease as well as educational and support groups.

During the 2011-12 season, Peterson brought his battle with Parkinson's into the public eye – including in-depth coverage of his Deep Brain Stimulation Surgery (DBS) – in an effort to create awareness and cultivate donations to the Peterson Foundation for Parkinson's. Since the DBS, Peterson is happy, healthy and has seen a reduction of his Parkinson's symptoms.

In his time behind the Predators bench as both associate coach (2003-11) and assistant coach (1998-2003), Peterson worked closely with the penalty-killing unit that has finished among the top 12 in the NHL in 10-of-12 seasons, and a defensive corps that gave up the second-fewest goals in his final season behind the bench (2010-11). He helped the club to Stanley Cup Playoff berths in six of his last seven seasons behind the bench and has coached players such as Dan Hamhuis, Ryan Suter and Shea Weber.

Peterson joined the Predators after serving as head coach of the Portland Winterhawks (WHL) for seven seasons, posting a 201-138-20 mark. During the 1997-98 season, the Winterhawks were a league-best 53-14-5 and captured the WHL Championship and the Memorial Cup. He recorded 40-or-more victories on four occasions and helped develop NHL first-round picks Adam Deadmarsh (1993), Jason Wiemer (1994), Brenden Morrow (1997) and Marian Hossa (1997).

Prior to joining Portland, the Calgary, Alta., native spent two seasons (1989-91) as an assistant coach with the Hartford Whalers (NHL) following his retirement as a player. The former first-round pick of Detroit (1978) played 11 NHL seasons from 1978-89 with Detroit, Buffalo, Vancouver and Hartford. He appeared in 620 NHL games, collecting 213 points (72g-141a) and 484 penalty minutes. Peterson was known as one of the NHL's top defensive forwards and penalty killers.

Brent and his wife, Tami, reside in Franklin. They have three children: Ryan, Brad and Kristin, and five grandchildren.

BROADCASTERS

TERRY CRISP STUDIO ANALYST

Entering his 21st year with the Predators, Terry Crisp provides analysis on the Predators during the club's television broadcasts. He regularly contributes insight to the Predators' website and has worked as a studio analyst for Canada's TSN during the 2000, 2002 and 2003 IIHF World Championships.

From the franchise's first season in 1998 until 2013-14, Crisp worked alongside Pete Weber, forming one of the most well-known broadcast duos in the League. A part of the Predators' Emmy-winning broadcasts in 2003, 2008 and 2010, Crisp served as a color analyst for FOX Sports during the 1998-99 season and during the 1998 and 1999 Stanley Cup Finals, and has served in a similar capacity for TSN in past years.

Crisp posted 201 points (67g-134a) in 536 games during his 11 seasons in the NHL as a player for the Boston Bruins, St. Louis Blues, New York Islanders and Philadelphia Flyers. He won three Stanley Cup Championships, two as a player with the Flyers (1974 and 1975) and one as a coach with Calgary (1989), and he is one of only 14 people to have won the Cup as both player and head coach. The Parry Sound, Ont., native has a unique perspective on expansion teams: he was a player with the inaugural editions of the St. Louis Blues in 1967 and the New York Islanders in 1972.

Crisp was the head coach of the Tampa Bay Lightning from the franchise's inception in 1992 through October 1997, coaching 391 games. He held the record for most games coached by an expansion franchise's first coach until Barry Trotz, then with the Nashville Predators, broke the mark in 2003. In the 2004 NHL Stanley Cup Final, the Lightning defeated the Flames – the team he coached to the Cup in 1989. Crisp also served as the assistant coach of the silver medal-winning Canadian team at the 1992 Winter Olympic Games in Albertville, France.

Terry and his wife, Sheila, reside in Nashville. The Crisp's have three children – sons Tony and Jeff, and daughter Caley, and nine grandchildren.

ARENA INFORMATION

BRIDGESTONE ARENA

Bridgestone Arena • 501 Broadway
(615) 770-2000 • Fax (615) 770-2010

Serving as the home for numerous national and international events, Bridgestone Arena has the distinction of being one of the busiest venues in the Unites States since the doors first opened in 1996, hosting more than 20 million guests during that time. The National Hockey League's Nashville Predators have been the primary tenants of Bridgestone Arena since 1998 and boasts one of the most unique game atmospheres in professional sports. Seating capacity is approximately 20,000 for concerts, 19,395 for basketball and 17,159 for Nashville Predators games.

Formerly known as the Nashville Arena, Gaylord Entertainment Center and Sommet Center, the building became Bridgestone Arena in 2010 after Bridgestone Americas Inc., which is headquartered in Nashville, entered into multi-year naming-rights and marketing partnership with the Predators and Powers Management.

Initiated by former Nashville Mayor Phil Bredesen and approved by the Metro/Davidson County Council in 1993, Bridgestone Arena uniquely embraces Nashville's heritage as "Music City, U.S.A." The arena was designed as a tribute to Nashville's music roots, with the entrance positioned on the corner of Fifth Avenue and historic Broadway, facing the Ryman Auditorium – the original home of the Grand Ole Opry.

The one million-square-foot facility has also spurred downtown growth in the last 10 years, inspiring further development that includes the Country Music Hall of Fame, Frist Museum of the Visual Arts, Schermerhorn Symphony Center, multiple hotels (Hilton, Omni, Hyatt, Westin and J.W. Marriott), Encore Condominiums, Pinnacle at Symphony Place office building and the Downtown Public Library. According to the Nashville Downtown Partnership, there are over 280 restaurants, 105 shopping options, 60 live music venues, 110 nightlife options and 25 art galleries in the downtown area, as of August 2018. With more businesses coming soon. In fall of 2017, Bridgestone Americas fully relocated its headquarters to a new 30-story building two blocks from the arena.

A report issued in 2012 estimated that Bridgestone Arena and the Nashville Predators generate an annual economic impact of approximately $410 million. More than 2,350 jobs are supported annually by the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena. Nearly two-thirds of attendees at all Bridgestone Arena events come from outside of Davidson County, creating a pure economic impact to Davidson County in dollars spent by out-of-county visitors.

Furthermore, during the 2017 Stanley Cup Playoff run, it was estimated that during the four rounds, close to $2.7 million was generated for the city through ticket, merchandise and concessions sales taxes; the overall economic impact from a record 11 home playoff games (3 Stanley Cup Final, 3 Western Conference Final, 3 Second Round and 2 First Round) was over $50 million.

Bridgestone Arena also hosts a variety of non-traditional functions for Davidson County, the city of Nashville and local residents. Bridgestone Arena tower is home to the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame, an XM Radio studio and the Nashville Convention and Visitors Bureau, which hosts more than 500,000 tourists annually. Bridgestone Arena features the Patrón Platinum Club, a 260-seat fine-dining experience located on the building's suite level, which is open before and after games and concerts, and hosts a number of banquets and receptions. The Lexus Lounge, an exclusive Performers' Level Club that is home to the world's first convex curved 2mm LED wall offering a live panoramic view of the ice, features luxurious amenities such as personal concierge service, plush seating and special-themed buffets. Recently added during the 2017-18 season are two Bunker Suites next to Lexus Lounge, which offer a private event viewing space that includes food and beverage and is a great corporate outing locale.

Continuously upgrading to improve experiences for fans, guests, performers and athletes, Bridgestone Arena underwent another $12 million in renovations during the summer of 2018, bringing the total to over $70 million in renovations over the last seven years.

The arena also houses more than 6,000 square feet of meeting room space and a 13,500-square-foot rehearsal hall that is available for rent and used more than 200 days a year by national touring acts. Metro's Registry of Deeds is also located inside the Bridgestone Arena.

The list of acts that have called Bridgestone Arena home is lengthy and includes the Country Music Association Awards; the Country Music Television Awards; Keith Urban's "We're All For the Hall" benefit concerts; NCAA, SEC and OVC Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments, the 2014 NCAA Women's Final Four; and entertainers such as Madonna, Garth Brooks, Paul McCartney, Elton John, Billy Joel, the Rolling Stones, KISS, Metallica, Taylor Swift, Justin Timberlake and Katy Perry. Bridgestone Arena is in the midst of hosting 12 consecutive SEC Basketball Championships (SEC Men's tournament: 2015-17, 2019-21, 2023-25, SEC Women's tournament: 2018, 2022, 2026). Three seasons ago, the arena hosted the 2016 NHL All-Star Game, putting on one of the most successful experiences in League history and paving the way for Bridgestone Arena to host the 2017 Stanley Cup Final.

ADMIRALS COACHING STAFF

KARL TAYLOR HEAD COACH

Karl Taylor enters his first season as head coach of the Milwaukee Admirals in 2018-19. Before joining the organization, the 47-year-old North Bay, Ont., native spent four seasons with the AHL's Texas Stars as an assistant coach.

In Texas, Taylor's teams went a combined 152-108-30-14 and made the playoffs in three of his four seasons. His tenure was headlined by the Stars' appearance in last season's Calder Cup Finals, where they came one game from claiming the AHL title, falling to the Toronto Marlies in Game 7. With Taylor behind the bench, Texas earned at least 90 points in three seasons, including the 2017-18 season's 90-point effort (38-24-8-6) that culminated with the AHL's Western Conference Championship.

Prior to joining Texas, Taylor spent one season as an assistant coach for the Western Hockey League's Portland Winterhawks in 2013-14, where they finished second in the WHL's regular-season standings with 113 points (54-13-5 record). Taylor helped guide the Winterhawks to the WHL Finals as the 2014 WHL Western Conference Champions, where they fell to the Edmonton Oil Kings in seven games.

Before jumping to the WHL, Taylor served as an assistant coach with the AHL's Chicago Wolves in 2011-12 where they won the regular-season division title and was a head coach in the ECHL for six seasons from 2005-11. He was at the helm of the Reading Royals from 2005-08, making the playoffs in two of his three campaigns, amassing a 112-82-22 record in the process. Taylor then became the first head coach of the ECHL's Ontario Reign from 2008-11, leading them to the playoffs in their inaugural season. He finished second in the John Brophy Award voting for ECHL coach of the year in 2008-09.

Taylor played three seasons in the Ontario Hockey League with the Windsor Spitfires, London Knights and North Bay Centennials, tallying 35 points (16g-19a) in 137 games from 1988-91. Following his junior career, he played for the University of New Brunswick from 1991-95, serving as an alternate captain in his final three seasons. Taylor also spent time as a head coach at Red Deer College in Alberta and the University of Waterloo before landing his first professional coaching job.

Taylor and his wife Bev live in Milwaukee with their son Mac and daughter Kate.

SCOTT FORD ASSISTANT COACH

Scott Ford enters his fourth season as an assistant coach for the Milwaukee Admirals in 2018-19 after helping to guide the Admirals to a 38-win season in 2017-18. Ford will work alongside Admirals Head Coach Karl Taylor and Assistant Coach Greg Rallo.

Ford finished a distinguished 11-year playing career in 2014-15, splitting time with the Admirals and the South Carolina Stingrays. He skated in 12 games with Milwaukee, posting a pair of assists and 14 penalty minutes. The Brown University alum helped the Stingrays to an ECHL-record 23-game winning streak and a berth in the Kelly Cup Finals. Overall, Ford spent parts of seven seasons with the Admirals, including two as team captain, and his 378 games played are the second most in club AHL history. The Fort St. John, B.C., native posted 14 goals and 31 assists for 45 points, a +37 rating and 577 penalty minutes — also second-most in team AHL history. Ford is one of just two defensemen since 2004 to finish the season +20 or better.

GREG RALLO ASSISTANT COACH

Greg Rallo enters his first season as assistant coach of the Milwaukee Admirals in 2018-19. The 36-year-old native of Gurnee, Ill., recently completed a 12-year professional playing career that included stops in the NHL, AHL, ECHL and the German professional league. He spent last season with the AHL's Texas Stars and tallied 11 points (5g-6a) in 29 games.

Rallo competed in 11 NHL games with the Florida Panthers from 2011-13 and scored his first career NHL goal on April 2, 2013, against the Tampa Bay Lightning. In 615 career AHL contests, Rallo compiled 165 goals and 177 assists for 342 points, including a career-high 54 (26g-28a) with Texas in 2010-11. His AHL career featured stints with six different clubs and saw him captain the San Antonio Rampage in 2013-14 and serve as an alternate captain for the Stars in 2015-16. Rallo also won the 2007 Kelly Cup as ECHL champion with the Idaho Steelheads, where he had 31 points (13g-18a) in 37 games.

Prior to his professional career, Rallo played four seasons for Ferris State University in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association from 2002-06, where he had 108 points (46g-62a) in 152 games. He also produced 1.30 points per game in junior hockey as a member of the North American Hockey League's Springfield Jr. Blues from 2000-02.

Rallo and his wife Liana have two daughters, Avery and Addison and a son, Ryder.

PREDS DOMINATE THE CENTRAL

- Nashville went 18-5-3 against Central Division foes in 2017-18. The Preds' 18 division wins were the most they've had since they also recorded 18 in 2007-08 (18-9-5).
- The team posted a franchise-best .750 winning percentage over Central Division opponents.
- Nashville's all-time best record against divisional opponents came in the 2006-07 season when it went 21-8-3 vs. the Central.
- The Preds posted a winning record against five of their six divisional opponents this season, including a series sweep of Colorado and St. Louis (4-0-0).

#PEKKA4VEZINA

- Pekka Rinne claimed his first career Vezina Trophy as the NHL's best goaltender for the 2017-18 season. With the nod, which came in his fourth nomination for the trophy (2011, 2012, 2015, 2018), Rinne became the first player in Predators history to win a performance-based NHL award.
- Out of goaltenders who played at least 50 games, Pekka Rinne finished first in save percentage (.927), even-strength save percentage (.938) and goals-against average (2.31) and third in wins (42).
- Rinne finished tied for first in the NHL in shutouts with eight, a career high. He bested his previous-high mark of seven, which he hit in 2008-09 and 2009-10.
- Rinne closed out the regular season with a 23-5-1 record in his final 29 appearances. From Jan. 6 to the conclusion of the 2017-18 regular season, he posted a 2.17 goals-against average and a .930 save percentage to go along with five shutouts. The Predators earned 47 of 58 possible points in Rinne's final 29 starts of 2017-18.
- He recorded a personal 11-game win streak from Feb. 19-March 19, matching the longest of his NHL career (also: Jan. 7-Feb 4, 2012).
- The Finnish goaltender represented the Predators at the 2018 NHL All-Star Game and stopped every shot he faced in one period of action for the Central Division.

BANNER YEAR FOR PEKKA

- Rinne won his 300th career NHL game on Feb. 22 vs. San Jose, becoming the 34th goaltender in NHL history to accomplish the feat.
- He earned his 50th career shutout on March 6 vs. Dallas, making him the 28th goaltender in NHL history to hit that mark.
- Rinne became one of just 18 goalies in NHL history to own 300 victories and 50 shutouts.
- He passed Miikka Kiprusoff for most shutouts by a

- Rinne (42-13-4) reached the 40-win mark for the third time in his career, becoming the seventh goaltender in NHL history to achieve the feat (per NHL PR). He previously earned 40 wins in 2011-12 (43) and 2014-15 (41).
- He finished the season with the second-best save percentage of his career (high: .930 in 2010-11) and best goals-against average since 2014-15 (2.18).

HOT STREAKS

- The Preds rattled off a franchise-record 15-game point streak (14-0-1) from Feb. 19-March 19, topping the previous high of 14, which was set in 2015-16.
- Nashville put together a franchise-best 10-game win streak from Feb. 19-March 8.
- In addition to breaking the team record for road victories in a season (25), the Preds also set new high marks for longest road point streak at 15 games (12-0-3) from Jan. 4-March 19 and longest road win streak at eight games from Feb. 27-March 19.
- The Preds set the franchise record for most consecutive home games with a power-play goal at 13 (Oct. 10-Dec. 2).

- Captain Roman Josi finished tied for first in power-play goals (7), fourth in shots (249), tied for eighth in plus-minus (+24), tied for 10th in goals (14), 14th in points (53) and tied for 17th in assists among NHL defensemen. Josi's plus-minus rating and power-play goal totals set career highs, and he tied the franchise record for assists and points in a game with five helpers on Feb. 27 at Winnipeg. He averaged a point per game over his last 21 contests, posting 21 points (5g-16a) since Feb. 19.
- P.K. Subban set a career high in goals with 16 and was one point (59) shy of matching his best mark of 60, which he set in 2014-15. He led Nashville defensemen in assists with 43 and was the only Preds player to appear in all 82 games this season. Among NHL defensemen, Subban tied for fourth in goals (16), tied for eighth in points (59) and tied for 13th in assists (43). He scored in four straight games from Nov. 14-20, a Preds record for a defenseman, and played more shorthanded minutes than any other Nashville skater (233:48). Ekholm also posted the second-most blocked shots by a Preds defenseman with 117.

BALANCED SCORING

- Despite not having a player in the Top 50 in NHL scoring, the Predators tied for seventh in the NHL in goals per game (3.18) and goals (261).
- The Predators had 14 players with 20 points, 11 with 30 points, eight with 40 points and six with 50 points. Only two other teams (Toronto, Tampa Bay) had at least six players with 50-or-more points.
- The Predators had 13 players score at least 10 goals with the team, a franchise record and more than any team in the NHL.

WINNINGEST GM OF ALL-TIME

- Predators President of Hockey Operations/General Manager David Poile became the winningest GM in NHL history following Nashville's 4-2 victory over Edmonton on March 1.
- Poile won his 1,320th game as a general manager, passing Glen Sather's mark of 1,319.
- At the conclusion of his 21st season as GM of the Predators, Poile moved his Nashville record to 739-578-(60)-147.

- The Swedish forward tallied 25 points (9g-16a) in his final 25 games of the season, including nine (5g-4a) in his final five games. He notched his fifth career hat trick on April 7 vs. Columbus, setting the record for most in Preds history.
- Forsberg had a 16-game home point streak (11g-11a-22pts) to start the season, the longest such streak by any NHLer since Patrick Kane at the start of 2015-16.
- He matched his career-best point streak with a seven-game stretch from Nov. 11-24 (3g-7a-10pts).

ARVI HUSTLE

The "JOFA" line had the 13th-best shots per percentage at five-on-five of any line in the NHL at 55.87 percent, and they combined to score the seventh-most even-strength goals in the NHL (33).

TURRIS LINE SETS THE TONE

- The Predators acquired center Kyle Turris on Nov. 5 and he made an immediate impact, tallying 19 points (5g-14a) in his first 27 games with Nashville, including a seven-game point streak from Dec. 4-19 (2g-10a) that matched his career high.
- The line featuring him, Craig Smith and Kevin Fiala posted the eighth-best shot attempts for percentage of any line that played at least 200 minutes together in the NHL this season. The trio controlled 58.33 percent of five-on-five shot attempts when on the ice and outscored their opponents 33-14 at even strength.

- Turris had 42 points (13g-29a) in 65 games with the Preds; Smith set a career high in goals (25) and power-play goals (9); and, in his second full NHL season, Fiala posted career highs in goals (23), assists (25), points (48) and plus-minus (20).

SPECTACULAR SAROS

- Rookie goaltender Juuse Saros, who appeared in 26 games, finished with the third-highest single-season save percentage in team history at .925.
- After starting the season 0-3-0, the 22-year-old rebounded to finish 2017-18 with an 11-5-7 record and 2.44 goals against average. Since Nov. 4, he led NHL goaltenders in save percentage (.935) and was fourth in goals-against average (2.19).
- He set the Preds record for most saves in a shutout with 46 on Dec. 14 at Edmonton and became the first goalie in team history to tally multiple 40-plus save shutouts in the same season.
- Saros started the second half of all 11 back-to-backs in 2017-18 and went 8-1-2.

SHORTHANDED SUCCESS

- Nashville finished tied for third in the NHL in shorthanded goals with 10.

- Austin Watson closed out the 2017-18 regular season with four shorthanded markers, tied for the second-most in the NHL.
- The Predators broke the team record for fastest two shorthanded goals on March 13 vs. Winnipeg, scoring twice in a span of 34 seconds vs. the Jets (previous record: 2:40). It was the first time in team history the Preds scored two times while killing off the same minor penalty. Nashville scored multiple shorthanded goals in a game for the fifth time in team history.

FISH RETURNS

- Center Mike Fisher announced he was ending his retirement and returning to the Predators at a press conference on Jan. 31. He formally signed a one-year contract on Feb. 26.

- Fisher, who played in his 1,100th career NHL game on March 31 vs. Buffalo, had four points (2g-2a) in 16 games with Nashville and led the team in faceoffs at 58.2 percent.

PREDS ADD HARTMAN AT THE DEADLINE

- Nashville acquired forward Ryan Hartman from Chicago on Feb. 26 in exchange for a first-round and fourth-round pick in the 2018 NHL Draft and forward Victor Ejdsell.
- The 23-year-old tallied six points (3g-3a) in 21 games with Nashville and scored the game-winning goal in his Predators debut on Feb. 27 at Winnipeg.
- A physical presence, Hartman chipped in with 19 hits, 13 blocked shots and eight penalties drawn.

TOLVANEN MAKES HIS NHL DEBUT

- Eeli Tolvanen, Nashville's first-round pick (30th overall) in the 2017 NHL Draft, made his NHL debut on March 31 vs. Buffalo after signing a three-year, entry-level contract two days prior.

- The 18-year-old posted the most productive season by a teenager in KHL history, tallying 36 points in 49 games with Jokerit. He had 19 goals and 17 assists - both KHL records for an 18-year-old - and earned a nod to the league's All-Star Game on Jan. 14.
- He also competed at the 2018 Winter Olympics for Finland and had nine points (3g-6a) in five games, tied for second-most in the tournament.

PREDS AT THE ALL-STAR GAME

- Peter Laviolette (head coach), P.K. Subban (captain) and Pekka Rinne represented the Predators at the 2018 NHL All-Star Weekend in Tampa, Fla., from Jan. 27-28. Subban scored and Rinne pitched a shutout in the game's first period as the Central Division fell to the Pacific, 5-2.
- Rinne got the start and made four stops for the Central Division, becoming the only goalie in this year's All-Star Game to record a shutout. He also finished second in the "Save Streak" competition, stopping 13 Metropolitan Division shootout attempts in a row.
- Subban tied the game at two with under three minutes remaining with his only shot on goal. He also recorded the skills competition's third-hardest shot, registering a speed of 98.7 miles per hour with his second attempt.

PLAYOFF NOTES
2018 WESTERN CONFERENCE FIRST ROUND

- WESTERN CONFERENCE FIRST ROUND -

GAME ONE
Nashville versus Colorado (5-2 W) at Bridgestone Arena on April 12
The Predators began the 2018 Stanley Cup Playoffs with an offensive flash in a 5-2 home win over the Colorado Avalanche. Filip Forsberg scored twice – the first of his two multi-goal performances in the playoffs – and tallies from Austin Watson, Craig Smith and Colton Sissons helped Nashville take a 1-0 lead in the first-ever series between the Preds and Avalanche. Three third-period goals propelled Nashville to victory and Pekka Rinne made 25 saves for his 37th career playoff win, the most among Finnish-born goaltenders in NHL history.

GAME TWO
Nashville versus Colorado (5-4 W) at Bridgestone Arena on April 14
For just the third time in franchise history, the Predators jumped out to a 2-0 series lead as five different Predators found the back of the net in a 5-4 victory. Roughly a minute into the second period, Kevin Fiala converted on a power-play goal, and Viktor Arvidsson and Ryan Johansen notched goals of their own to give the Predators a lead they would never relinquish. After Austin Watson netted his second goal of the playoffs, the Avs pulled back to within one, but Ryan Hartman potted his first-career postseason goal to seal the victory for Nashville.

GAME THREE
The Predators suffered their first loss of the 2018 postseason as they fell to the Avalanche, 5-3, the third game of the series. Ryan Johansen, Colton Sissons and Austin Watson each scored, but three first-period goals and a two-goal effort from Colorado's Nathan MacKinnon, proved too much for the Predators. The result saw Nashville's 12-game overall win streak against Colorado, which dated back to April 5, 2016, come to an end.

GAME FOUR
A dominant opening two periods of play – including a dazzling goal by Filip Forsberg and 15 first-period shots – helped the Preds defeat the Avalanche, 3-2, to take a 3-1 series lead heading into Game 5. Goals from Colton Sissons and Craig Smith in the second period led to a Nashville advantage after 40 minutes, and although Gabriel Landeskog and Alexander Kerfoot tallied for Colorado in the third, Pekka Rinne kept Colorado at bay with nine final-period saves to capture the victory.

GAME FIVE
The Predators held a 1-0 lead in the third period, but the Avalanche beat Pekka Rinne twice in the final moments for a 2-1 edge victory, sending the series to a Game 6 in Denver. The first two periods went scoreless, but Nick Bonino directed a puck into the net off his skate midway through the third to give Nashville the edge. In the final five minutes, Nathan MacKinnon found Gabriel Landeskog in front to convert and tie the game, and then Sven Andrighetto potted a rebound past Rinne with 1:28 remaining to give Colorado their first and only lead of the night. Nashville fired 45 shots on goal, but Andrew Hammond, in net for the injured Jonathan Bernier, stopped 44 of them on the way to the win.

GAME SIX
Five different Predators found the back of the net and Pekka Rinne made 22 saves in Game 6 as they shut out the Colorado Avalanche, 5-0, and to take their First Round series, 4-2. The victory saw the Predators advance to the second round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs for a franchise-best the third consecutive season. Nashville scored five unanswered goals from Mattias Ekholm, Austin Watson, Filip Forsberg, Nick Bonino and Viktor Arvidsson, and Pekka Rinne made 22 saves as the Preds moved on to face the Winnipeg Jets.

- WESTERN CONFERENCE SECOND ROUND -

GAME ONE
Nashville versus Winnipeg (4-1 L) at Bridgestone Arena on April 27
In just the second time in Nashville's last six postseason series, the Preds dropped the opening game, a 4-1 decision against the Winnipeg Jets. The Predators set a postseason franchise record with 20 shots in the opening frame, but it was Winnipeg that took a 1-0 lead, courtesy of a goal from Brandon Tanev. Paul Stastney scored and Mark Scheifele netted two more to put the game out of reach, but Kevin Fiala got the Preds on the board when he finished off a nifty passing play to beat Connor Hellebuyck with one minute remaining in the final frame

GAME TWO
Nashville versus Winnipeg (5-4 OT W) at Bridgestone Arena on April 29
The 100th Stanley Cup Playoff game in Predators' history proved to be a thriller with Kevin Fiala scoring the game winner in double overtime for a 5-4 Nashville win. It took Ryan Johansen just 27 seconds into the contest to give the Predators their first lead of the series, but Winnipeg's Dustin Byfuglien and Mark Scheifele tallied goals to give the Jets a 2-1 lead after the opening period. After goals by P.K. Subban, Viktor Arvidsson and another for Johansen, Brandon Tanev and Mark Scheifele countered for the Jets, and the Predators reached overtime for the first time in the 2018 postseason. Craig Smith found Fiala, who made a move and backhanded a shot past Connor Hellbuyck at 5:37 of the second overtime to push the series to 1-1.

GAME THREE
Nashville jumped out to a 3-0 lead thanks to goals from Mike Fisher, P.K. Subban and Austin Watson, but four straight Winnipeg goals in the second gave the home team a 4-3 lead heading into the final frame. Filip Forsberg's goal to tie the game didn't stand for long, however, as Blake Wheeler put home a rebound on Winnipeg's third power play of the period on Winnipeg's third power play of the period, Blake Wheeler put home a rebound and the Jets then tacked on two empty-netters to take a 2-1 series lead.

GAME FOUR
Defense proved to be the difference as Predators goaltender Pekka Rinne made 32 saves and P.K. Subban slapped home the game-winner in the second period to lead Nashville to a 2-1 victory. In the first period, Ryan Hartman put home a loose puck, giving the Preds a 1-0 lead for the second straight game. Patrik Laine ended Rinne's shutout bid with a power-play goal that came less than a minute left to play in regulation.

GAME FIVE
Four goals from the Jets in the second preceded two more in the third to hand the Predators their third loss of the series, 6-2, in Game 5. Patrik Laine tallied first in the second period followed by defenseman Yannick Weber tying it up with his first goal of the postseason. The Jets came back for three goals in the next six minutes to take a 4-1 lead, before Ryan Johansen got one back before the six goal middle frame was finished. Winnipeg netted two more early in the third period and pushed their series lead to 3-2.

GAME SIX
The Predators shut out the Winnipeg Jets on the road, 4-0, in a Game 6 that featured two goals from both Filip Forsberg and Viktor Arvidsson and a 34-save performance by Pekka Rinne. The Finnish-goaltender recorded his second shutout of the 2018 playoffs and helped the Predators force the first-ever Game 7 in franchise history back in Nashville.

GAME SEVEN
The Predators' franchise-best season came to an early conclusion with a 5-1 loss to the Winnipeg Jets in Game 7. Before the opening period concluded, P.K. Subban tallied for Nashville on the power play to put the Preds within one, but a second stanza controlled mostly by Winnipeg saw Mark Scheifele give the Jets a 3-1 lead before they tacked on two more in the final frame. With an assist on Subban's goal, Filip Forsberg has tied his career high for playoff points in a single postseason and tied the franchise's all-time postseason high (16).

CREDENTIALS
Season passes are issued to those members of the media who regularly cover the Nashville Predators. These passes will be honored for entrance to Bridgestone Arena and all working areas for all 2018-19 regular-season home games. Single-game credentials must be submitted by email on company letterhead to Nick Barnowski (nbarnowski@nashvillepredators.com) by 10AM CT on the day prior to the game in question. Press box space is limited. For this reason, the Predators cannot guarantee credentials to those members of the media who request such passes after the deadline.

Credentials will be issued only to representatives of legitimate news-gathering agencies and websites. They will be confiscated if worn by members of the media whose names do not appear on the credential. Only credentialed members of the media are allowed to sit in the press box.

MEDIA ENTRANCE
All credentialed media may enter through Bridgestone Arena's Sixth Avenue Garage Entrance located inside the ground level of the parking structure on Sixth Avenue near Demonbreun. Credentials are also available at this entrance on game nights, which will be open three hours prior to face-off. Practices at the arena and morning skates are also accessible through this entrance.

Proceed to your left out of the elevators, and the press box is three sections down.

POSTGAME
Head Coach Peter Laviolette will be available in the event-level media lounge for his postgame press conference following each home game. The Predators' dressing room will open no later than five minutes following the conclusion of the game. In the event of a team meeting, the room will open at the conclusion of the meeting. Transcriptions of both head coaches' postgame availabilities, as well as various Predators and visitors player quotes from the locker room will be distributed to the media in a timely manner following each home game. The freight elevator outside Sections 312/313 will make two express trips to the event level immediately following the game.

MEDIA WORK ROOMS
Work space and media dining are available in the media lounge/workroom on the event level's south side between the Zamboni tunnel and visitor's dressing room. NASHVILLE ALL-STAR GAME

On Oct. 17, 2014, the National Hockey League announced that the Nashville Predators and Bridgestone Arena had been selected as host to the 2016 NHL® All-Star Game, the League's multi-day mid-season showcase. The All-Star® Weekend was held Saturday, Jan. 30 and Sunday, Jan. 31, and included the NHL All-Star Skills Competition™ and a fan fair in addition to the NHL®All-Star Game.

The year was packed with many firsts and surprises, from country music stars making an appearance during the All-Star Skills Competition™, to a new 3-on-3 format for the All-Star Game. Outside of hockey, there was Fan Fair held in Music City Center, along with four days of outdoor concerts in beautiful weather and a stunning red carpet that was attended by tens of thousands. The city was unbelievable, the weather was unbelievable, the events were terrific, the game was great, the Skills Competition was great, the fans as usual were outstanding, and you couldn't have asked for anything better, really. As a hockey fan and a family that is fans of the game, we thoroughly enjoyed every part of it." -Peter Laviolette, Head Coach Nashville Predators

"Nashville glowed Predators gold this weekend, and the whole hockey world got to see it. From the star-studded entertainment to the high-energy arena atmosphere, our city wowed visitors from NHL cities across the continent and did our team proud." -Jessica Bliss, *The Tennessean

- The Nashville Predators had a League-high four players involved in the event – James Neal, Roman Josi, Pekka Rinne, and Shea Weber.

Ford Ice Center, which opened for public use in August 2014, was built as a provision of the June 2012 lease agreement between the city of Nashville and Bridgestone Arena. A component of the public-private partnership between Metro and the Nashville Predators, Ford Ice Center was built to help continue the growth of hockey and skating in Middle Tennessee. The facility's central location helps generate local economic development, which in turn increases the demand for nearby lodging, dining, shopping and entertainment.

Located in Antioch, Ford Ice Center houses two sheets of ice, eight locker rooms, four party rooms and more, providing an opportunity for players of all levels and ages more opportunities to participate in hockey and ice skating. Ford Ice Center is also connected to a six-acre park; this provides ample outdoor space for dry land training opportunities for a variety of work outs.

In addition to housing the Predators Youth Hockey initiatives like Get Out and Learn! (G.O.A.L!), Ford Ice Center is home to the Scott Hamilton Skating Academy. Hamilton, a longtime Franklin, Tennessee, resident and Olympic Gold Medalist, helps develop curriculum, make staffing decisions for the Academy and more.

With initiatives such as youth and adult hockey, "Learn to Skate" and public skating participants, friends and family, there is something for the whole family at Ford Ice Center. Since hosting the Nashville Predators Rookie Tournament in September 2014 (with the Florida Panthers, Tampa Bay Lightning and Boston Bruins) Ford Ice Center has hosted several nation-wide USA Hockey adult rec-league tournaments and skating showcases in addition to local and regional events.

PREDS ICE CENTER

In March of 2017 the Nashville Predators announced the development of a new two-sheet ice rink, the Preds Ice Center, at One Bellevue Place. This the second location the Preds have created to grow the sport of hockey through Middle Tennessee, the first being Ford Ice Center in Antioch. The Predators are now involved in three of Nashville's biggest recreational operations in Ford Ice Center, Centennial Sportsplex and now, Bellevue.

The Nashville Predators project the new Bellevue rink to operate with the same success as Ford Ice Center, resulting in two of the busiest rinks in North America calling Nashville home. This could not be done without the strong partnership the organization has with the Mayor's office, Sports Authority and Metro Parks and Recreation.

Inside the facility, guests can expect two full sheets of ice, a variety of food and beverage options with a full restaurant; workout space designed to help figure skaters and hockey players, a track inside the community center and many other planned elements. The Scott Hamilton Skating Academy will be operating out of the Bellevue location, to accommodate the growing program. Ground breaking for the Preds Ice Center took place in June of 2018, with the projected open date for the development set for August of 2019.

The rink will be the finishing touch to an already elaborate development currently under construction at One Bellevue Place and couldn't have happened without the NHL, NHLPA, the Nashville Predators, the Sports Authority and the city of Bellevue working hard together to continue the development of an already-thriving Metro Parks and Recreation department.

One Bellevue Place's retail space is 375,000 square feet and held its grand opening in August of 2018. Within the space, there are 337 Class A apartments, which started occupancy in the summer of 2017. The space will also feature an 111-room Hilton hotel and a planned Marriott hotel. The Thomas Frist Centennial Sportsplex is operated by the Metro Board of Parks and Recreation in Nashville. The facility was made possible by a landmark land exchange between Metro Parks and healthcare provider Hospital Corporation of America (HCA). The city exchanged 10 prime acres adjacent to Centennial Park for $12 million. The money was used to build the Sportsplex. During the summer of 2014, the ice arena at Centennial Sportsplex underwent major renovations, including replacing the ice coolant systems and installing new dasher boards and glass at Rink B.

The $20 million, 145,000 square-foot Sportsplex features a tennis center, a fitness center, an aquatics center and two full-size ice rinks. The aquatics center, named after Olympian Tracy Caulkins, has been the site of numerous U.S. Senior and Junior National Swim Meets, the YMCA National Swim Meet and, to date, still holds one of the fastest times ever swam for the men's 50-meter freestyle, set in the inaugural swim meet in February 1990 by Olympian Tom Jager.

The ice arena opened on Jan. 2, 1990, with one sheet, and a second sheet was added on Feb. 1, 1999. It is home to the Nashville Predators' practice facility, the Nashville Youth Hockey League, Nashville Skating Academy and the Nashville Figure Skating Club. The building holds offices for the Predators' coaching staff and hockey operations department, a full dressing room, weight room and an athletic training section.

In addition, Centennial Sportsplex hosts adult hockey leagues, figure skating, numerous public sessions, figure skating competitions, ice shows, hockey tournaments and camps. In 1997, it was one of the sites for the USFSA National Championships.

Centennial Sportsplex offers instructional classes in skating, swimming and tennis, as well as public usage in each of those areas. The ice arena and aquatic area also offers special rates for parties, schools and group events. For further information, contact the Centennial Sportsplex at (615) 862-8490 or visit nashville.gov/sportsplex.

NAME, LOGO & SWEATERS

The Predators unveiled their logo, a saber-toothed tiger, in Nashville's downtown First American Center on September 25, 1997, 26 years after a fang and foreleg bone of a saber-toothed tiger were found in a cave just below the building's address. In May of 1971, excavation began at the downtown Nashville site of what today is the 28-story Regions Center. Further digging revealed a cave containing the nine-inch fang and a foreleg bone of a saber-toothed tiger, extinct for at least 10,000 years. Radiocarbon tests on revealed that it could have possibly been one of the last of its breed to exist. Scientists believe that some time during the last glacial period (15,000-80,000 years ago) part of the cave was the den of the saber-toothed tiger.

The discovery, made in August 1971, marked only the fifth of its kind in North America. For more than 35 years, the prehistoric artifacts were housed in the building above their excavation site, until November 2016, when they were presented to the team for housing inside Bridgestone Arena.

The saber-toothed tiger logo was co-designed by JDK Design of Burlington, Vermont and Dye, Van Mol & Lawrence of Nashville.
The naming of the Predators was a direct reflection of the fans of Nashville and their choice.

During the public events and through focus groups and related surveys, fans selected the name "Predators" by a two-to-one margin over the second choice. On Nov. 13, 1997, the saber-toothed tiger logo was unveiled for the first time with the Predators insignia attached to it. On Feb. 12, 1998, then-Head Coach Barry Trotz and Assistant Coach Paul Gardner unveiled the Predators' inaugural home and away jerseys at Cool Springs Galleria.

On Nov. 21, 2001, the Predators debuted a third jersey with a 4-3 win against the Chicago Blackhawks at Bridgestone Arena. The jersey featured an "animated" saber-tooth tiger logo on the crest and tiger skulls on the shoulders. It was retired following the 2006-07 season.

For the 2007-08 season, the Predators, along with the other 29 NHL teams, introduced the Rbk EDGE Uniform System to further meet the performance demands of today's player.

The Predators would debut a new third jersey on Nov. 27, 2009 against the St. Louis Blues. The sweaters, which features a vintage-inspired lace-up front, a subtle checkerboard pattern lining the bottom of the jersey, and a bolder and more simplified color scheme, were worn for the past two seasons, but will be set aside in 2011-12, making way for the first logo and color scheme redesign in franchise history.

The logo and uniforms for the 2011-12 season were designed to develop a powerful, long-term brand message and help infuse new life into the Nashville Predators imagery and brand with a more contemporary, aggressive, streamlined logo that still maintains the basic Pred Head concept. A new secondary logo was also designed to represent the state flag of Tennessee and Nashville's Music City heritage simultaneously, with a guitar pick shape incorporating the three stars of the state's three grand divisions – West, Middle and East. The "Predators Gold" sweaters create a distinctive, dominant, bold look that balances traditional elements of classic uniforms, with those unique to Nashville – guitar strings in the numbering and lettering, fangs in the neck area and piano keys on the inside of the collars.

Another redesign came for the 2017-18 season as adidas unveiled the new ADIZERO Authentic NHL jerseys and uniforms for all 31 NHL teams. The lighter, cooler, stronger designs help solidify the team's visual identity within the league by placing more emphasis on their signature Gold color. The adidas design team worked with the Predators on both the home and away uniforms to simplify them, and use the signature Gold in a bolder and more prevalent way. In addition, the sleeve numbers have been adjusted to include the same six-string graphic motif as the current back numbers.

NASHVILLE HOCKEY HISTORY

In the spring of 1962, a small group of businessmen led by David Patterson put up $125,000 to place a team in the Eastern Hockey League. The Dixie Flyers, named after a passenger train said to be the oldest in the South, were placed in the nine-team league. The purple-and-gold colored Flyers played their first regular-season home game (a 2-0 loss to Knoxville) on Oct. 27, 1962 at the Municipal Auditorium. The Flyers endured a rough opening season, winning 16 games and qualifying for the playoffs, only to be swept in three games by Greensboro. However, it didn't take long for the Flyers to make their presence felt.

After losing in the 1965 Finals, the Flyers went on to win EHL Walker Cup championships in 1966 and 1967, the only two professional ice hockey titles in the city's history. John McLellan, who went on to coach the Toronto Maple Leafs, coached the Flyers. The Flyers swept each of their three playoff series' in 1966. They won the championship by going 11-0 in the playoffs and becoming the first team in minor league ice hockey ever to march through the playoffs undefeated.

In 1967, Patterson's group sold the team to a business group headed by Mark Parrish. The Cinderella '69 team reached the Finals, but lost in seven tough games to the Clinton (N.Y.) Comets in the Walker Cup Finals. Shortly after, the Flyers' attendance slipped dramatically. Barely able to scrape up enough funds to start the 1970-71 campaign, the Flyers folded following the season.

Hockey returned to Nashville when baseball guru Larry Schmittou, who brought minor league baseball back to Nashville in 1978 after a 15-year absence, did the same for hockey in July 1981. Thus the South Stars were founded, a team that played in the Central Hockey League and had the Minnesota North Stars as its NHL affiliate. The logo was a hockey player swinging a guitar representing the Music City while using yellow, orange and green.

The 1981-82 team finished fourth in its division and lost to Wichita, 3-0, in the first round of the playoffs. Gene Ubriaco, who went on to coach the NHL's Pittsburgh Penguins and 1992 Italian Olympic team, coached the Stars.

Under new ownership (Randy Van Meter), the Stars pulled out of the CHL in 1982 and entered the old Atlantic Coast Hockey League (ACHL), playing teams geographically closer to Nashville. The Stars finished 11-43-4 and suffered through a season of low attendance. They began the following season, only to fold in December 1983. Two Knoxville wrestling promoters, Bob Polk and Ron Fuller, rescued the sport five years later. They purchased an East Coast Hockey League franchise in January 1989. The Knights, with popular ex-South Stars player Archie Henderson as coach, attracted an astonishing 150,000 fans their first season (1989-90). While wearing red and blue uniforms adorned with the logo of a knight's mask, they made the playoffs but lost in the first round. During the 1990-91 season, Peter Horachek, former Predators assistant coach, served as the Knights' head coach and director of hockey operations.

The Knights went through three ownership changes in their seven-year history. They twice went to the semifinals of the ECHL playoffs - in 1993 under ex-NHL standout and coach Nick Fotiu, and in 1995 under coach Mark Kumpel.

Perhaps the top Knights highlight came during the 1992-93 season when Trevor Jobe scored what is still a minor hockey league record 85 goals, with 76 assists, for 161 points and 12 hat tricks in his MVP season.

In the spring of 1996, after failed negotiations for a lease agreement with the Auditorium, the Knights departed to Pensacola, Fla. There, they were renamed the Ice Pilots.

Hockey was revived again with the arrival of the NightHawks in the fall of 1996. The Central Hockey League team only won 12 games, the worst in CHL history. The red-and-blue NightHawks' logo was a hawk showing its claws. Nashvillian Mike Friedman purchased the team in the summer of 1997. In a renewed salute to the old Dixie Flyers, Friedman changed both the name to the Ice Flyers and the colors to blue and gray. David Lohrie led the team to a 41-win season and a second-place finish in the CHL East and was named coach of the year. The team lost in the semi-finals to the eventual CHL Champ Columbus in April 1998. The impending arrival of the Predators led Friedman to move the franchise to Albany, Ga.

This closed the book on three separate chapters, a combined 21 years, of minor league hockey in Nashville, starting and ending with the team named the Flyers. Former Predators President Jack Diller is well aware and appreciative of Nashville's hockey pioneers.

"The team and sport obviously made a significant impact on many people here in Middle Tennessee. Other teams such as the South Stars, Knights, NightHawks and Ice Flyers also enjoyed varying degrees of success - all of which helped fuel the excitement for the NHL and arrival of the Predators," Diller said.
